Wildcats Tackle Rebels Tomorrow

Mississippi Contest
Is First SEC Game

By Tom Diskin
Kernel Sports Editor

The University of Mississippi, football champions of the Southeastern Conference last season, furnish opposition Saturday night for the Kentucky Wildcats in the final nocturnal contest on Stoll Field this fall. Game time is 8 p.m.

Last week both teams opened the 1948 campaign with victories. Kentucky swamped a weak Xavier team, 48-7, while Ole Miss clipped Florida, 14-0, at Gainesville.

The game tomorrow night will feature the excellent forward wall of Ole Miss versus the speedy backs of the Wildcats. The Rebels' first-team line, which averages 203 pounds per man, is considered one of the best in the South in recent years. Six of the seven linemen have lettered at least twice in former seasons with Ole Miss. The seventh man, Center Ken Farragut, is only a sophomore, but he received a letter last year as a freshman.

In the backfield, the Rebels are relatively strong. The quarterback post is somewhat of a worry for Coach Johnny Vaughn. However, little Farley Salmon, first-string signal caller for the Red and Blue turned in a fine game against Florida last week and may have solved that problem for UM. Only time will tell.

Kentucky Is Ready

The Tobacco State gridgers came out of the Xavier game in pretty fair shape. Center Harry Ulnski received a shoulder injury and may not see any action tomorrow. Bob Wodtke or Roy Ford will probably sub for the ailing Ulnski.

Fifth Meeting

The clash will be the fifth between the teams, each having won two contests in the past. In 1944, Kentucky won here in Lexington, 27-7; in 1945, Ole Miss took honors 21-7 at Memphis; in 1946, in Coach Bryant's first game as head of the Wildcats, Kentucky won 20-6. Then last season, the Rebels upset UK, 14-7, at Oxford, as Charley Conerly and Barney Poole teamed up to prove the difference.

The All-American Conerly, who set a new all-time collegiate passing record for completions in one season in 1947, is no longer on the squad. Left end Barney Poole, now in his eighth year of college football, is a senior and this is absolutely his last at Ole Miss. These two stars combined to score 108 points for the Red and Blue in 11 games for the 1947 campaign. Conerly, now with the New York Giants professional gridgers, threw 20 TD passes.

Poole, meanwhile, set a new national college record for passes caught during a regular season with 52, good for 533 yards and eight touchdowns. The 6' 3", 220 pound Poole was selected on 11 different All-American teams at the conclusion of last season. He was also selected in 1944 and again in 1946 as All-American end at Army.

Cousin Phillip At Guard

Other starters in the Ole Miss line will be Roland Dale, a 6' 3", 195 pound left tackle; Phillip Poole, cousin to Barney, is expected to start at left guard. He is a senior, 6' 2" and weighs 205 pounds. The center will be 6' 4", 225-pound Ken Farragut, a very promising sophomore. On the right side will be

Engineer Groups Name Newly Elected Officers

Newly elected officers of engineering organizations are: Jack R. Bell, president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers; Wesley G. Witt, president of the American Society of Civil Engineers; Ted Haley, president of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers; Willis F. Lewis, president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Mr. Lewis is also chairman of the Engineering Student Council. Prof. E. E. Elsey was chosen as faculty advisor of the council this year.

Othniel Alsop was elected president of Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity composed of juniors and seniors with a standing of two. Willard R. Becraft was elected president of Eta Kappa Nu, national honorary fraternity for electrical engineers. Leonard S. Haines was elected president of Pi Tau Sigma, national honorary fraternity for mechanical engineers.

Dance Group Elects Officers For Term

Tau Sigma, modern dance group, has re-elected Dorothy Richardson and Jo Trapp to the presidency and vice presidency respectively.

Other officers are Janis Stille, secretary; Ann O'Bannon, treasurer; Betty Elliot and John Chumley, business managers.

Tryouts will be held Monday, Oct. 18, at the Women's gymnasium. The gym will be open Oct. 4 and 11 for practice.

SuKy Announces New Cheerleader Tryouts Tonight

Twelve cheerleaders are to be selected tonight at 6:30 in the Alumni Gym. It was announced by Sue Warren, SuKy cheerleader tryout chairman. Those who plan to try out for the position should report to the gym at 6 p.m. to fill out application blanks.

The judging will be as follows: voice, 15 points; technique, co-ordination, and timing, 30 points; poise, 15 points; personality, animation, and appearance, 25 points; audience response, 15 points.

Following the tryouts, at 7:30, a snake dance will form in front of the gym and will proceed downtown, where a pep rally will take place in front of the Phoenix hotel. Members of SuKy will lead the way on a fire engine, followed by the band.

Frank Maturo is in charge of the pep rally.

Dr. Croft Heads Testing Service

Dr. Lysle W. Croft, director of the personnel office, has been selected as head of the Kentucky Cooperative Counseling and Testing Service and Robert W. Henderson, assistant personnel director, has been named assistant director.

The service was recently set up by the Kentucky Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The service, taken over by the University, will be housed on the third floor of the Administration building.

Ag College To Enter Stock Judging Contest

The College of Agriculture's livestock judging team will compete in the Southeastern Collegiate Livestock judging contest will be held at Memphis, Tenn., in Oct. 2. L. J. Horlacher, dean of the College of Agriculture, announced.

Members of the judging team are J. N. Harris, Carl Hamilton, Beryl McClain, James Wells, Robert Hicks, Stanley Gillespie, G. R. Bradley, David Hatchett, Roy Camic, and Frank Linton.

The team will also compete in the American Royal Livestock Show in Kansas City, Oct. 16, and the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, on Nov. 27.

Chaplain Appointed For Canterbury Club

The Rev. E. Laurence Baxter, chairman of the department of college work for the diocese of Lexington, and rector of St. John's church, Versailles, has accepted the post of chaplain for the Episcopal students of the University of Kentucky. He will be assisted by William D. Smith, who is pastor of Holy Trinity church, Georgetown. Mr. Baxter will be in charge of the Canterbury Club activities.

Service Group Elects

Steve Cornett and Frank Bassett have been elected vice president and secretary respectively of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

Any men who have been affiliated with the Boy Scout movement and are interested in APO's program of service should contact the chapter, according to Joe Hall, president.

Sweater Swing Slated

The first sweater swing of the semester will be held in the Bluegrass Room, Tuesday, Oct. 5, from 8 to 9:45 p.m.

AZ Holds Smoker

A smoker for all freshmen and faculty members of the agriculture college will be given October 14 at 7 p.m. in the Animal Pathology building by Alpha Zeta, honorary agriculture fraternity.

Dr. Brady Is Sent To Japan As Military Government Adviser

Dr. George K. Brady, professor of English, has been granted a four month leave of absence to go to Japan as an advisor with the American military government.

He will serve on a four-man educational-cultural commission which will advise military officials about matters of re-education of the Japanese cultural affairs, and university organization.

Dr. Brady left Lexington September 26 and is expected to leave for Japan within the next few days. Dr. Brady is in Washington now where he is being briefed on his assignment.

Stassen Arrives In City Today In Dewey Behalf

Harold Stassen, recently appointed president of the University of Pennsylvania, will arrive in Lexington this afternoon to campaign for Governor Dewey, presidential nominee.

The former governor of Minnesota will hold a press conference late in the afternoon and speak at the Woodland Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Trainride Scheduled

Two members of the Kentucky Republican Party and Joe Matthews, a student representative of the Youth for Dewey and Cooper Club, will meet Stassen in Louisville this morning and travel with him to Bowling Green early in the afternoon. The party will arrive in Lexington at 4:30 p.m. and parade with Senator Cooper from Bluegrass Field down Main Street under police escort.

Reception To Be Given

The Youth for Dewey and Cooper Club, who are sponsoring Stassen's visit, will give a reception at the Lafayette Hotel after the press conference.

There will be several preliminary speeches prior to Mr. Stassen's address tonight.

Following the meeting at Woodland Auditorium, Stassen, who was a nominee for the presidency at the Republican convention, will fly to Cincinnati.

UK Establishes Geological Office

A regional field office of the United States Geological Survey is being established at the University of Kentucky, according to President H. L. Donovan. The office will be located in the Administration building, and will have as its primary purpose the study of coal reserves.

The program is being started in Leslie County where the work will be directed primarily to determine the availability, character, and reserves of coal in that county, which are important but relatively undeveloped. It will be a detailed study of surface and underground geology of the county directed toward other possible resources as well. It will take about two years. Later the work will be extended into other counties of the coal belt.

Working from this office, the federal survey also is studying the region bordering Pine Mountain for information pertinent to oil and gas development in Kentucky and adjacent parts of Virginia.

Ralph Wilpolt, a geologist of the U. S. geological survey with extensive experience in Virginia, Arkansas, New Mexico, and Mexico, will be in charge of the field office. The staff at the start will include three other geologists with a number of assistants. It will be some months before the program will get in full swing due to lack of geologic personnel.

UK Graduate Dies At Local Hospital

Mrs. Genevieve Gee Staton, a 1943 University graduate, died September 24 at the Good Samaritan Hospital after a brief illness. She is survived by her husband, James R. Staton, a student in the College of Commerce.

Funeral services were conducted September 25 in Nicholasville by the Rev. W. J. Arvin, pastor of the Christian church.

Guignol Schedules Tryouts For Sunday

All students interested in tryouts or working on production staff of the new Guignol production, "Pygmalion," should come to the Guignol Theater Sunday at 3 p.m., according to Wallace Briggs, director. There will be five important men's roles, five important women's roles, and several non-speaking parts. The play will be given in November in five acts and three sets.

Troupers Try Out

The UK Troupers will hold tryouts in the Men's Gymnasium Tuesday night at 7:30 for students interested in any form of entertainment.

Tom Montgomery, Troupers president, said that there is a special need for girl tumblers and adagio dancers.

Absentee Voting

Absentee voting will be conducted this fall by the League of Women Voters, Betty Shropshire, president, announced.

The League urged that students write now to their county clerks for absentee ballot applications. Applications will be notarized free of charge on Oct. 14 at the Student Union Building.

A notarized application may then be sent back to the county clerk, Miss Shropshire said, and an absentee ballot will be returned to the student.

Absentee ballots will be notarized at no charge on Oct. 28 or 29, the League announced.

Notary public service will be furnished by the Young Republicans Club and the Young Democrats Club.

Lances Schedule Annual Carnival For October 15

Lances, junior men's honorary, announced that its annual fall carnival will be held October 15 on the intra mural field.

Beginning at 7 p.m., the carnival will feature game and entertainment booths sponsored by campus organizations.

Each organization will also sponsor an entry in the contest for carnival queen, to be chosen on the basis of the popularity of the contestant she represents. Crowning of the winner will be at the informal carnival dance to be held at 9 p.m. in the Student Union ballroom.

Music will be furnished by Bob Biehl's orchestra and intermission will feature specialties by members of Tau Sigma, modern dance group. Tickets for the dance are $1.50, stag or drag.

All recognized campus groups are encouraged to participate in the carnival. Proceeds will provide a portion of the annual Lances scholarship, awarded to a junior man outstanding in scholarship and leadership.

Organizations interested in sponsoring a booth and candidate for carnival queen should see Dr. William Ward of the English department.

Caps Still Available For New Freshmen

About 500 freshman caps are still on sale in the Campus Book Store. It was announced this week.

All freshmen men are eligible to wear caps, which sell for one dollar each.

New Deans Honored

President and Mrs. H. L. Donovan held a reception for the faculty and staff from 7 to 10 p.m. Wednesday at Maxwell place. The reception honored University deans who were recently installed.

Enrollment Reaches 7,863 For New High

A record 7,863 resident students have enrolled in the University for the fall semester, according to Dr. Maurice F. Seay, registrar.

The current total exceeds by 23 the former record of 7,840 set a year ago.

Official statistics showed that the present figure is more than 18 percent greater than the number of students enrolled in the fall term of 1946. The total represents an increase of more than 106 percent over the normal pre-war registration of about 3,800.

Men Outnumber Women

The ratio of men to women in attendance has changed little, however. The men still outnumber the women by almost four to one. There are 6,133 men and 1,730 women enrolled in all University branches. Of these, 5,805 men and 1,649 women are in attendance on the Lexington campus, making a total of 7,454.

The College of Pharmacy in Louisville reports the registration of 232 upper-classmen, and the newly established Northern Extension Center at Covington has enrolled 177. The Pharmacy College has only 15 women attending and 217 men. At the Covington center there are 66 women and 111 men.

Seventy-one men attended the post session held from Sept. 1 to Sept. 14.

These classes are conducted by the Extension department in various parts of the state for adults and special students.

WAA Plans Picnic

The Women's Athletic Association has announced that a picnic will be held for all members of the association on Tuesday at Joyland Park.

Members will meet in the Women's Gymnasium at 5 p.m. Cost of the picnic will be 50 cents per member.

Dancing Class Starts

A weekly class in ballroom dancing open to all University students will be taught by the Physical Education department beginning October 7.

The class is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on Thursdays. The registration fee will be one dollar.

Deiss Named Kernel Editor; Green, Warren Appointed

HELEN DEISS

HARRY GREEN

SUE WARREN

Diskin Will Retain Job At Sports Desk

Heien Deiss, Lexington Journal-junior, was appointed editor of the Kernel this week after Ray Fulton's resignation brought an almost complete staff turnover.

Fulton, whose appointment as editor went into effect last week, resigned to accept a position as police reporter for the Lexington Herald. The Board of Student Publications accepted his resignation and made all appointments this week.

Miss Deiss was moved up from the news editor's job, which she held through the summer.

Harry Green, Journalism junior from Owensboro, has been appointed managing editor.

Filling the news editor's position is Sue Warren, Journalism senior from Staten Island, N. Y.

Diskin Stays

The only editorial position remaining the same is that of sports editor, held by Tom Diskin for the second year. Diskin, a junior from Ft. Thomas, has as his associates Kent Hollingsworth, Lexington junior, and Dudley Saunders, Lexington sophomore.

Both Green and Miss Warren worked on the Kernel copy desk. Miss Deiss, in her third year on the Kernel, was assistant news editor before being appointed news editor last spring.

Fulton, appointed editor last spring, held the managing editor's job until Jack Sorrelle graduated in August. Fulton was formerly assistant managing editor.

Assistants Named

Stanley J. Schill, who is also feature editor, was appointed assistant news editor. A junior from Valley Stream, N. Y., Schill has worked on the feature and news staff for a year.

Associate managing editors are Joan Cook, Louisville sophomore, and Monte R. Tussey, senior from Wheelwright.

Ruby Graham, Journalism senior from Brandenburg, has been named society editor.

Members of the Board of Student Publications are Rusty Russell, Student Government Association representative; Charley Whaley, Kentuckian editor; Ray Fulton, Kernel editor; Dr. Neil Plummer, head of the Journalism department; and Frank D. Peterson, University controller.

Enrollment High Set For ROTC Classes

A new high in enrollment for ROTC training was set last week with 1420 students entering basic and advanced classes. The previous record of 1319 students was set in 1939. Classroom space, equipment, and teaching staff are being taxed to meet the needs of the increased enrollment.

According to Col. G. T. Mackenzie, head of the military science department, the increased enrollment is largely due to the fact that the majority of the incoming students are non-vets who, under the Morrill or Landgrant Act, are required to take military training. Tentative plans have been made to organize the unit into one regiment, three battalions, and three companies. There are 351 students in advanced ROTC, 1000 in basic, and 19 in the ROTC band. Of the 1420 students, 45 percent are in the Infantry, 45 percent in the Air Corps, and 10 percent in the Signal Corps.

Ten officers and 12 enlisted men of the Regular Army are attached to the ROTC headquarters in Buell Army.

Installation Is Begun On Sprinkler System

A $60,000 sprinkler system is being installed in the new maintenance building. Comptroller Frank D. Peterson announced.

The maintenance building, now located at the Experiment Station of the University, has a 75,000 gallon capacity water storage tank under construction to enlarge and maintain the sprinkler system.

A $102,400 contract for the extension of the steam heating system from the Administration building was also announced.

The contract was let to Pridemore and Sons, contractors, and will include extension of heat to all new buildings in that area.

First Reading Class Meets Monday Night

Non-credit classes for improving reading ability will be held two nights a week beginning Monday.

Lewis Clifton, director of the Extension Department, announced. The class will meet in the basement of Frazee Hall every Monday and Wednesday night from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. for 12 weeks, and is limited to 20 persons.

Miss Ruby Evans Hart, of the Extension Department, is the instructor. There will be a $10 fee for the course and another small fee for materials. Mr. Clifton said.

Grants Received By 17 Students

Seventeen students have received grants to do advanced work at the University under the Margaret Voorhies Hagin Trust Fund Fellowships, Dr. Louis A. Pardue, dean of the Graduate School, announced this week.

The awards are open annually to graduates of accredited colleges and universities who show special aptitude in the field they choose for research or advanced study.

Hagin fellowships, which carry an annual stipend of $300, were given to Raymond Hays, Lexington; William Meadows, Somerset; Elbert Ockerman, Frankfurt; and Kelem Prickett, of Lexington.

Scholarships under the Hagin grant which provide $400 per year were awarded to Donald Drown, Elko, Nevada; Elsie Dotson, Bowling Green; Christine Forrester, Lexington; Jul-sheng Hsieh, Sishui, Kweichow, China; Elizabeth Kamaroff, Hartford, Conn.; James Kemp, Pickett, Arthur Leche, Lima, Ohio; Wade Marsh, Jr., Hartsville, Ind.; James Rowley, Buffalo, W. Va.; Marjorie Sulzer, Lexington; Charles Thompson, Stark; Gretchen Waldrup, Atlanta, Ga.; and Frances Youtsey, Cincinnati.

The appointments, which are made for one year but are renewable, are effective beginning with this semester.

Ag Faculty To Meet

The College of Agriculture and Home Economics will have a faculty meeting at 4 p.m. Monday, in the assembly room of the Experiment Station.

Special Course Ends

A special five-day dairy husbandry course in artificial insemination will end tomorrow, according to Dr. D. M. Seath, head of the dairy husbandry department.

Twenty persons from throughout the state have attended the course to be trained as technicians, Dr. Seath said.

Music Convo Held

Phi Mu Alpha and Phi Beta, honorary music fraternities, were hosts at a music convocation Sept. 28.

Dr. Edwin E. Stein, head of the Department of Music, and new faculty members, were introduced.

Confusion Reigns In Stadium At Frustrated Frosh's Debut

By Jane Webb

I don't know exactly how it happened, but all of a sudden I was being involuntarily swept up a ramp that led to—I knew not where—amid a mass of mad maniacs that probably knew less. My only clue to my destination was a snarl of grey ticket indicating a certain seat, which had been thrust into my hand somewhere along the line.

I had hardly gotten accustomed to clinging to the little ticket until a mysterious hand came out of nowhere, snatched my little ticket, tore it in two and handed me the half minus the seat number. I was then muttered at by another party that there would be no reserved seats. And the crowd charged on.

Where's The Playing Field

Finally, I was securely seated in my seat. And somebody's snarl ready to take a gander at the starting lineup. After wrestling the battered program from a well-hidden pocket, I eyed it intently. None of the names looked very familiar, but I felt confident they would before long and proceeded to close the blasted thing and peer about me to see what I could see. (As a matter of fact, I couldn't see much of anything. The whole row of people in front of me seemed to have friends all over the stadium to whom they had to constantly bob up and pay respects.)

Well, at any rate, a bunch of huskies in white regalia took the field at long last. These players, I discovered with dismay after clapping and cheering wildly for five minutes, were not representing Kentucky, but Xavier. Oh, well, I con-

WBKY Will Increase Length Of Operation

WBKY, the University frequency modulation station, will increase its length of operation thirty minutes starting Oct. 1 extending its programs from 7 to 7:30 p.m.

Two new programs are being added to WBKY's program schedule. Airline Theater, a weekly dramatic show written by UK students, may be heard over WBKY on Tuesdays from 7:45 to 8 p.m. This program is also being transcribed by WVLC at 8 p.m. All students wishing to submit material for this program should contact Lewis Swain at the University radio studios.

Tinker Baggarly's orchestra will be featured on Thursday nights in a program of popular music. This broadcast will be open to the public.

Ag College Presidents To Organize Council

The presidents of all student organizations in the College of Agriculture and Home Economics will meet Tuesday, Oct. 5, at 5 p.m. in Room 102 of the Agriculture Building.

The purpose of the meeting will be to organize the agricultural Council and to make plans for student assemblies.

Residence Is Made Gift To University

A large 12-room building at 270 South Limestone Street has been presented by Miss Annie Dillard as a gift to the University.

Eventually the residence, which is nearly a hundred years old, will become a cooperative house for women students who otherwise might not be able to attend the University. The girls will do their own housekeeping.

Engineers Entertain

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers sponsored a "get-acquainted" party for the students and faculty of the mechanical engineering department Thursday night in the engineering study hall.

Yea Team!

Now came the big moment! Another bunch of huskies in white uniforms took the field. Since there were only two teams engaged in the contest, and since the opposition had already taken the field, I drew the sound conclusion that the latter must be our side and burst into an even more passionate display of spirit.

After a second try, a beautiful kick inaugurated the game. Before we had even gotten our collective breaths, the old blue and white was surging across the line for the first touchdown of the game. Wow! Was that one other person and I in our section happy! (We must have been ones standing.)

I now prepared to join in the bursting strains of "On, On, U. of K." I joined in all right, but it was hardly a bursting strain. I was more of a solo! I'll admit quite a few people around were singing but somehow or other, they sort of drifted from the traditional words.

We Won

Well, to go on time and time again Kentucky scored, leaving Xavier in the dust, until at last the final gun sounded the end.

Once again I found myself veritably crushed to death on the same ramp. I was a little disappointed in the spirit of the Wildcat backers, but nevertheless proud and happy to have been in the stands, actually a part now, of the great University to which I have chosen to come.

Where's Your Pep?

Last Friday night the first pep rally of the year was held behind the Student Union Building. It was a pep rally in name only.

A rally, according to Mr. Webster, is "a mass meeting intended to arouse group enthusiasm." If we accept Webster's definition to be correct, then the meeting held to "inspire the football team to victory" was more like an old maid's sewing circle.

An unofficial count placed the attendance at approximately 250 hardly enthusiastic souls. For a university with an enrollment of about seven-and-a-half thousand, this is worse than a disgrace!

We know that at least five sororities on the campus gave rush parties the night of the "rally." We also know that at least eight other organizations, supposedly sponsored by the University of Kentucky, gave parties of one form or another at the time their guests should have been out cheering their team on.

At the rally, members of the team and coaching staff were introduced. One would have thought they were going to the guillotine from the "thunderous" ovation they received, rather than to a football game they were destined to win.

It's about time the students on this campus realized school spirit is more than something to read about in the accounts of Notre Dame football battles. Let's get behind our teams. We're not ashamed of them — why should they be ashamed of us?

Dr. Kirwan further stated that plans for informal recreation and for formal dances and parties would be put into effect at the beginning of the fall semester, and that University men will be permitted to entertain visitors in the recreation rooms at that time.

So far, the plans as stated in the article have not been carried out, and at Bowman Hall's official "open house" last Sunday, many of the residents of the dormitories were asking the question, "When may we start entertaining our dates in these rooms, instead of merely at open house?"

Just a question — and a reminder.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, The Kernel:

During the five years that I have been at this University working toward a B.A. degree, I have been an ardent and faithful reader of The Kentucky Kernel.

It is only in the last two years that I have noticed in its pages a marked trend toward moralism. I believe this attitude is typified by a letter printed last week on the editorial page.

The letter to which I refer was written by one Gineen Pearl McFish on the subject of intoxicating beverages. (And this is not the first such letter of a moral tone contributed by Miss McFish.)

Of course Miss McFish has a right to her own opinion. But has she the right to use the Kernel, supposedly the voice of all UK students, to foster the opinions of the WCTU? And has she the right to invade the privacy of loyal UKians flocking to a football game and photograph them at their innocent gambolings? Miss McFish, by her own admission, has been taking pictures without the knowledge or consent of the subjects. I call this a violation of the four freedoms, the Constitution of the United States, and the Declaration of Independence.

Would Miss McFish do away with the traditions of Kentucky? With distilleries moonshine stills, and Rose Street taverns? Would Miss McFish leave hundreds of mountain families without an income? Would she leave hundreds of UK students with no place to go and nothing to chug-a-lug?

It is my opinion that Miss McFish is pushing her opinions and ideals a little too far when she tries to force them on the student body through the Kernel. Are the Kernel editors attempting to reform the student body? Is Miss McFish's letter part of a subversive plan to outlaw intoxicants on the campus?

Perhaps the SGA should be called in to investigate both Miss McFish and the Kernel if this sort of thing continues.

Ole Miss Here

Guard Jim Crawford, 5' 10", 202; Tackle Doug Hamley, junior, six-foot, 200 pounds; and End Jack Strubbing, junior, 180 pounds, 5' 11" in height.
In the backfield will be Salmon, a 5' 8", 155 pound speedster at quarter; at right halfback Dixie Howell, an 180 pound, 5' 10" senior who runs the 100-yard dash in 9.7; and Left Halfback Bobby Wilson, 170 pounds, 6' 1", from Piedmont, Alabama. Wilson is perhaps the most dangerous runner on the team and does most of the Reb's punting. He scored against Florida last week on a 99-yard dash to clinch the game for the Vaughtmen.
At fullback will be Red Jenkins, who is to be remembered from last year's game. Red intercepted a UK aerial and ran 42 yards to set up the winning tally for Ole Miss. He is a junior, 190 pounds, 5' 11" and comes from Vernon, Ala.
Jenkins scored the initial touchdown last week against Florida for the winning Rebels.

of the Sigma Nu House to find a female starting him in the face. The other occupants of the room are in dire need of suitable feminine garb for their roommate. Incidentally, she's a mannequin.
Andy Meats and Penny Smith got to be great chums.
What's this about the mountain gals who came up to see Holmes Smart and Frank Benton?
Looks like a showdown is coming in the Bishop-Nichols-Hells triangle. It seems necessary—especially from Betty's point of view.
J. V. Larkin, who was reported to be engaged last week in this column, has either changed his mind—or we made a mistake! He is not engaged—but she still wears his pin.
"Mad Matt" Mattingly left early Friday morning for a bombing mission in South Carolina. Target: A friend's wedding.
The old spark is still burning with Carol Jacobs and Billy Bryant. Say, has Ann Maeklin got her eye on Bill McCann or is that smile just nature?
Does Marcia Middleton know a guy named Gene Higgins—or is she just talking in her sleep?
Everybody, including Dick Wamack, is mighty glad to have Barbara Harris back in Old Kaintuck.
Jane Hayes is really proud of her Pennsylvania horse.
Glenn Stokes, who is mad about Sara Bennett Thomas, was reported to be in a madder mood Monday afternoon when he found out about the rush Tommy Montgomery was giving her on campus.
Arlen Miltam is having a hard time choosing between two Del pledges: Clayton Webb and E. G. Lehman.
John McLaughlin, how do you like Squeaky Thomas' technique with women?
Phil Pearce is pinned to Dottie Schoppenhorst, a member of the X and Horseshoe sorority at U. of L. Denny Stoll pinned Emily Ship at Queens College in North Carolina.
The long faces and shores in classes Wednesday morning were from the Stan Kenton hangover.
Jim McNeal and George Conway have found a new way to Eastern. "Steppin' Peppy" Betty Seay certainly did a swell job at the game Saturday night.
Libby Rogers has two stars shining in her eyes. Which one will it be?
Expected pinning: Patsy Yotse and Pat Conley.
Charles LeGette is trying to prove he's not going steady.
More weddings: Sue Ann Bradford to Ben Cowgill; Heba Fowler to Gene Harmon.
Maybe "Fricless" Rice is going to win the coveted "Good Behavior" Judy Luigart had "Bubba" Roberts under control at the game—but can she keep him from putting skunks in the actives' beds at the SAE House?

Cookin' With Gaskin

By Nancy Gaskin
We're back in the saddle again; back where a friend is a friend until you want to borrow her new cashmere sweater.
Once more we've plunged madly into a huge 12-hour schedule, knowing full well that six weeks from now we'll be wondering what happened to that history book five weeks back.
Oh well, those things happen on every campus. One must be careful to place one's books squarely in the middle of the floor where one can't help but trip over them every time one reaches for a cigarette, or one will forget one has books at all. And I do not mean the twenty-five cent variety found in any drugstore.

To change the subject to more practical matters... Skimming through the classified ads in college newspapers proves interesting at times. Note these instances (in order to prevent embarrassment no papers will be named):
Quote: Clean living newlyweds desperately need apartment at once. No tent available.
Quote: Used sofa and chair. Matched blonde wood and tapestry. Reasonable price.
Quote: Girls with ambition earn $35-40 weekly. Part time. Call Al Wilff.
Quote: LOST—one mother-in-law in vicinity of... Thank goodness!!

The geology department at Indiana University has brought forth something new. It seems there was a geology exhibit in the I.U. building at the Indiana State Fair. The exhibit was described as being on display in a compartment about twice the size of a telephone booth. It was pitch dark inside, so people could see the multi-colored rocks that glow. Some students disappeared inside with their dates and didn't come out for five whole minutes. Hmmm.

Possibly West Virginia University doesn't realize that some of us back-hills Kentuckians might be sensitive. The name of their official humor magazine is the Moonshine. We hope W.V.U. did not mean this intentionally, but still...

Have you flunked the Toe Nail Examination. Change to Madleaf Ice-Petrol. That will assure you of at least one A come finals this winter. This advice comes to you direct from the Blended Stockyards.

The staff of the Ball State Teacher's College paper seems to have much the same trouble as the Kernel staff does. Even the editor has to struggle to remember the lingo used in the newsroom. For example: "Slug it." "Two deck head." (Imagine.) "Scoop." "Beat." "Copy." Hed to cum." (Arms, legs, and body arrive in first shipment.) "Cuts." "Mats." Etc., etc., etc. The whole business sounds like an abattoir. Anyone interested in finding out what that word means should take Journalism 21 under Dr. Plummer, or contact Webster's latest unabridged dictionary complete with etymology.)

A new and challenging career for women
In your country's service, yours is no ordinary future. It's a new career for women, recently established by your representatives in Congress—that of permanent association with the Regular Services.
American women won this recognition by their distinguished service with the Armed Forces in the emergency of war. Now they can support their country in protecting the peace. If you're wondering how to put your college knowledge to work in a world that needs so much... and how to get the job you want, the money and prestige you expect after four years' intensive study, look for new fields in the Women's Army Corps or Women in the Air Force.
No matter what your special interests, you'll find you can put your education to work in the U. S. Army or U. S. Air Force.
Now your dream job is possible, your future unlimited. Advancement is rapid, and satisfaction great. You can get information and literature at your nearest MAIN U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station.

Dorbishire Tells Of Tour Abroad

Shelby Darbshire, UK student who took a summer tour through six European countries, expressed the opinion yesterday that most of the continent gives the impression of living under a superficial prosperity created by a fake economy.

Europe's seeming "prosperity" is actually unreal, said Darbshire. Stanford Junior who was one of two University representatives attending international student conferences in Europe this summer.

While there is an absence of rationing in most countries and black marketeers are "almost forced to go to work for a living," the proportion of the people who have the money to buy food and professional services is very small, he declared.

"The lower classes are still bad off due to a widespread unemployment and very high prices, and the governments do not seem to be doing much to better the situation.

Only the merchant-industrial class and the large land owners have enough money to pay the extremely high prices. There seems to be no social consciousness in regard to the plight of the lower classes.

Rather, the old "survival of the fittest" attitude seems to predominate, especially in Italy," Darbshire explained.

While he declines to consider himself an expert, even on the basis of eight years spent on the continent before the war, Darbshire said, "It does not appear that the threat of Communism is as great as might be expected in light of reports we hear in the United States. The people are far from being masters of their own fate and this general helplessness may eventually lead them into the Communist fold unless the Marshall Plan and other aid programs materially help them. But most Europeans seem to expect great things from the Marshall Plan and are resisting Communism with that in mind."

Darbshire's trip took him through Italy, France, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium and England. While England looks more drab during the present stage of recovery than other countries, the situation is probably "more healthy" there, he indicated, because the people are taking the "austerity" measures seriously.

Reconstruction is well underway in the war-devastated countries he visited, Darbshire said. "There does not appear to be the lack of initiative for reconstruction that we have heard exists in Germany and other countries of the 'battleground' area."

Cities in Italy, so completely destroyed as to be hardly distinguishable from the mountain sides on which they were built, are starting to rebuild in the belief that Italy will not be a battleground in the next war.

FULLBACK CLAYTON WEBB

Player Of The Week: Clayton Webb

By Kent Hollingsworth

Plunging the sombrero high for the 18-year-old Clayton Webb!

The sophomore engineering student from St. Albans, West Virginia, not only scored two touchdowns against Xavier last Saturday night, but intercepted three enemy passes, and got hold of the ball seven times to run 93 yards for an average of 13.7 yards per try.

Webb weighs a solid 190 pounds, measures 5 feet 11 inches tall, and is described by backfield coach Frank Moseley as a boy who really likes to play football, has "lotsa-hustle," and a great deal of drive.

Clayton is fast, a sure passer, and an excellent punter. The way he bucked the line for five yards at a crack last Saturday figures to be an important man in Coach Bryant's plans for a bowl team.

Hailed as a sure fire prospect by the coaching staff last year, Webb had all the breaks come his way. At least that's what happened the first time he got his hands on the ball in a varsity game last year. He went scooting around right end and ran smack dab into a bunch of burly Bearcats from Cincinnati. Webb got up, shrugged it off rather awkwardly and hung up his football shoes for the season with a broken collar bone. Thus his freshman season ended after only one run.

However he bounced back last spring and turned out for baseball practice. As on the football field, speed, hustle, and a good throwing arm sparked his play. Although he didn't meet the ball too well at first, at the end of the season he started hitting it consistently and far, and is slated as a starter next spring.

Other nominees for Player of the Week were: Norman Klein, senior from Louisville who did some bang-up running, and Big Bob Gain, Kentucky's Rock of Gibraltar, who did a stalwart job in the line.

[Cuff Notes]

Ken (Dynamite) Farragut, Moss Point, Miss., sophomore, is the heaviest center in Ole Miss grid history, scaling in at 225 pounds. He's 6 foot 4 inches in height, 19, and married.

Frank Smotherman, giant Kentucky tackle, has been going through light workouts this week and might see service against Mississippi tomorrow. Smotherman, a 6 foot 4 inch, 215 pound junior from Murfreesboro, Tenn., has been sidelined with a leg injury.

Ole Miss last year defeated every "T"-style team they faced..... Kentucky, Florida, South Carolina, Tulane and LSU.

Halfback Bobby Wilson Rebel's Top Triple Threat

"Bobby Wilson has the ability to become a great football player and we expect him to begin no later than September 25, 1948. He's a good runner, a fine kicker, and I believe he will develop into a good passer." So said the University of Mississippi Head Coach Johnny Vaught, of his capable tailback, last spring.

It was on September 25, 1948 that Bobby Wilson snagged a Florida pass on his own two-yard line, and picking up some solid blocking, ran the other 93 yards to help in the Ole Miss 14-0 victory over Florida.

Last year the 6' 1" physical education major played understudy to "Chickie" Charlie Conerly and was used mostly on defense. However, he gained reputation as an enemy pass snagger, pulling down five loose ones to go for 150 yards and lead the nation in that department.

Nearly Missed Ole Miss

As he was from Piedmont, Alabama, Wilson promptly showed up at the Tusculooosa school following his 32-month tenure in the Army. Receiving very little encouragement from Frank Thomas and his aides, Wilson gave up his dream of succeeding Gilmer, and enrolled in the Rebel camp at Oxford, Miss.

He's lettered for two years and has a couple more to go, one of which he can throw footballs at that Grand Old Man of collegiate football, Barney Poole.

Aside from football, Wilson also doodles in the national pastime. He led the Rebel baseballers last year with a lusty .365 batting average and also was the chief fence buster.

Wilson Versatile

Bobby Wilson is slowly developing into one of the best backs around the Magnolia State. He handles the bulk of the Rebels punting and also excels at passing. In 1946, Wilson completed seven aerals in 15 attempts; in 1947, his average was six good in 13 tosses.

Last season, the fleet-footed halfback intercepted six enemy passes, including one for 56 yards against Chattanooga, another for 35 yards in the LSU game, and then a 25-yard interception against Mississippi State.

He is one man to watch Saturday night, along with Barney Poole, Farley "Fish" Salmon and Dixie Howell.

Cats Unbeaten Here By Johnny Rebs

Kentucky has met Ole Miss four times; the Cats won the first and third games on Stoll Field, while the Rebels took the two played in their back yard. As this is the fifth year, and the game is to be played on Stoll Field, the Wildcats are rated 6 point favorites.

Cats Maul Muskies, 48-7; Webb & Jones Score Twice

By Dudley Saunders

Coach Paul Bryant lifted the curtain last Saturday night on his third annual production of the Kentucky Wildcats before 22,000 gridiron fans in McLean stadium. The antagonist Xavier Muskies found the Wildcat Warblers dramatically potent in a flashy sort of way and left immediately after the game to return to Cincinnati for a little more seasoning.

On yes, Kentucky won, 48-7. What Kentucky's front-line chorus lacked, the backfield stars made us for in speed and razzle-dazzle. Paced by George Blanda's passing, Norman Klein's running, and Clayton Webb's pass defense, the Wildcats rolled up two markers in the first, third and fourth quarters and a single marker in the second period.

End Wah Jones and Clayton Webb scored twice, Ben Zaranka, Don Fuell and Norm Klein once each. Bob Gain split the uprisings for four points and Bobby Brooks for two.

Zaranka Scores First

Kentucky's first touchdown march started in its own 38. Lee Truman picked up six yards, and then Norm Klein sprinted 27 yards for a first down on the X 29. Two plays later George Blanda passed to Benny Zaranka for 27 yards and a touchdown. Bob Gain converted and Kentucky led 7-0, after five minutes of play.

Xavier took over on its own 20 and drove 80 yards to score their lone touchdown on a McQuade-to-DeFranco pass from the Wildcat 25. Keefe converted and the score was 7-7 with 10 minutes gone.

Phelps returned the kick-off to the 30. Then Norman Klein went off tackle for the longest run of the evening from scrimmage to score after a 70 yard run. Gain once again split the uprisings and Kentucky was away 14-7.

Nine minutes were gone in the second quarter before Don Phelps fired a running jump pass to Wah Jones in the end zone, who made a leaping catch. Gain's conversion was good. Kentucky 21, Xavier 7. Another Kentucky drive carried to the X 21 as the half ended.

Second Half

Midway in the third quarter Kentucky started a drive from midfield that was climaxed by Blanda's pass from the 18 to Jones on the six. Wah plowed the remaining six yards to score his second T.D. of the evening, and Gain booted his fourth p.a.t. to practically settle any doubt as to who was running the show.

Barely a minute later Clayton Webb made the first of three brilliant pass interceptions on the 32 and scampered to pay dirt. Brooks' effort for the conversion was futile because of a bad pass from center Kentucky 34, Xavier 7.

In the fourth quarter Webb intercepted another McQuade pass the 12 and returned it to mid-field. Kentucky lost the ball on down but Don Frampton immediately returned it to the 21 as the game ended. (Continued on Page Seven)

Barney Poole Now In Eighth Season Of College Football

The names of Poole and the University of Mississippi are practically synonymous in Southern football circles. For in the last decade a steady stream of "Pooles" of all sizes have flowed through the Oxford, Miss., institution.

At the present time, Barney is in the limelight for the clan. His reputation is well known around Lexington. Last season, the famous Charley Conerly-to-Poole aerial combination was the major factor in the Wildcats' 14-7 defeat at Oxford to open the 1947 campaign. This passing combine went on from this game to break the collegiate record for number of completed aerials in one season. Needless to say, both Conerly, now with the New York Giants pro gridgers, and Barney made All-American honors.

Poole is a senior, 25 years of age, stands six-foot, three-inches, and tips the beams at 225 pounds solid averduois. This is now his eighth season of collegiate football. Here is the story.

Barney entered Ole Miss in 1941 and played there both that year and in 1942. Then he entered service and eventually landed with the University of North Carolina eleven under the V-12 program of the Marines. That season he stood out and was named All-Conference, on the 1943 selections.

The big boy from Gloster, Miss., then applied for admission to West Point, was accepted, and in the fall of 1944 joined the Army eleven along with two other fellows named Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, whom you may have heard of in recent years.

Twice All-American

These three, along with a few more All-Americans, teamed up to form the great Army teams of 1944, 1945, and 1946. Barney made the All-America selections in '45 and '46. At West Point, Poole was responsible for 10 blocked punts in three seasons.

After leaving the Point, Barney somehow made his way back to Mississippi and decided to join the Rebels since the seasons with North Carolina and Army did not count, as it was part of his "service training."

Since he only played two years before the war at Ole Miss, Barney then rejoined the Red and Blue as a junior back in 1947. This will definitely be his final season with Ole Miss. Rumors have it that Mr. Barney turned down a $12,000 offer from the N.Y. Giants professional gridgers last January. He preferred to remain at his beloved school. Possibly the huge end might accept the offer after the '48 season and join Conerly in the pro ranks.

Real Football Family

Barney, Jim and Ray are often considered the best football family in the country. Jim, now an Ole Miss coach, formerly starred with the Giants, making the All-Professional team three times. Ray, an All-SEC end in 1946 and UM's captain that year, now has succeeded his brother Jim at the Giants' terminal position.

Another family of Pooles are Oliver, Fleming, Phillip and Jackie—all present or past members of the rebel eleven.

Then comes the clan featuring Leslie, a former player, and three up-and-coming brothers, namely Frank, now 18 years old; Shirlee, 16, and Conway, 14 years old. Naturally they intend to enter Ole Miss after finishing high school at Gloster.

Oliver, mentioned above, played with the N. Y. Yankees gridiron team; Jackie is a sophomore on Ole Miss this season; 21 years old and base, Phillip, second base; Fleming, shortstop; Jackie, third base.

One summer recently, the Poole folks got together and formed a very successful baseball team. Barney caught, Ray pitched. At the other positions were Oliver, first an ex-Navy vet, Leslie is a tackle; Phillip a guard.

Ray Property Of Cubs

Incidentally, Ray Poole was signed by the Chicago Cubs baseball team and last season hurled for the Memphis Chicks. Ray also scored the only touchdown for the Rebels on a pass from Clayton Blount in Mississippi's last appearance at Stoll Field back in 1946, when UK trimmed the boys from the Magnolia State, 20-7.

In 1947, natural gas was sold to more than 10,000,000 customers by gas utility companies.

Petroleum experts believe the present shortage may last another four or five years.

covered a tumble on the Xavier 28. Blanda's passing moved it to the four yard line, where Webb bucked around right end for the score. Brooks converted to make it 41-7.

With less than two minutes to go, McQuade fired a pass that was intercepted by Dom Pucci on the 23 and returned 77 yards for the final Wildcat touchdown. Brooks converted to make the final score 48-7.

MEYERS 340 W. MAIN

Diskentucky

— By Tom Diskin, Sports Editor —

According to the football "experts," Kentucky is a six-point favorite to win over the Mississippi Rebels in their clash tomorrow night.

However, in the practice sessions early this week, the Wildcats looked very mediocre, especially on running plays, and might easily be upset by Ole Miss.

Coach Paul Bryant was very much disturbed Wednesday evening, after watching the Cats workout. He was worried over the lack of spirit and drive that his gridders displayed Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

The 34-year-old mentor said that his scouts are of the opinion that the Rebel line is "one of the best ever seen on a college football team," or at least judging by their play last week against Florida Gators at Gainesville.

Head football coach at Mississippi is John H. Vaught, who had quite a season in 1947—his first campaign as a head pilot. After the Rebels copped the SEC championship, he was nominated as the loop's Coach-of-the-Year, the first freshman mentor ever to gain that distinction.

Shortly thereafter, Ole Miss made its initial appearance in a post-season bowl game and licked a strong TCU squad, 13-9.

Another outstanding event of the 1947 season for Ole Miss was their first win over Tennessee in 45 years.

Vaught is a native of Olney, Texas. In 1932 he was named All-American at Texas Christian. Since that time he has tutored at North Carolina, Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, and North Carolina Preflight, the latter two during the war.

To supplement the loss of Charley Conerly, Coach Vaught has incorporated the "T" formation, besides the usual Notre Dame box system in the Rebel offensive strategy.

Kentucky's 48 points against Xavier last Saturday were the most scored on a Musketeer eleven since 1946. . . . X's All-Ohio tackle, Ray Stackhouse, played a very poor game last week in comparison to last season's encounter at Cincinnati. . . . Dom Pucci's 77-yard run in the Xavier battle so impressed one Louisville scribe that he moved the New Jersey lad right up behind George Blanda as the team's top quarterback. . . . Ole Miss's Barney Poole was selected on 12 different All-American teams in 1947. . . . that loud silence that you heard this week came from down Knoxville way as the Volunteer followers rubbed their eyes in disbelief at the 21-7 licking by Mississippi State Saturday. . . . thank heavens that State's Shorty McWilliams did not decide to follow his former teammate, Barney Poole, from West Point to Ole Miss after the 1946 season. . . . Instead, he returned to the Starkville, Miss. institution, where he starred as a freshman before going to Army to play next to Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard.

Cage Tryouts For Freshmen Begin October 6

By Tom Spillman
Basketball tryouts will be held in Alumni Gym for all freshmen who are interested, on Wednesday and Thursday, October 6 and 7, at 3 p.m.
Freshman Coach Harry Lancaster announced that each man must bring his own equipment for the tryout.

Although the frosh with basketball scholarships began practice Monday afternoon, Coach Lancaster emphasized the fact that there are vacancies in the squad which, at top strength will number 15. This is the final year for several men of the top team of the nation, and this year's frosh will count heavily in the future varsity competition.

The Southeastern Conference rule, stating that men must serve their first college year on the freshman team before stepping up to the varsity, has been reinstated after being relaxed during the war.

No definite cage schedule has been planned, but tilts with the freshman squads of KMAC and junior colleges will be arranged. Among those under consideration are Georgetown College, Kentucky Wesleyan, Asbury College, and the Ashland and Cumberland Junior College teams.

FARLEY (FISH) SALMON is the Rebel's top quarterback. He'll do most of the passing Saturday. Salmon, a 5'8 1/2", 155-pound senior from Clarksville, Miss., was moved from right halfback to the signal-calling position after the 1947 season to replace Charles Conerly.

Intramural Sports

The Intramural Department has released its sports schedule for the year, with three events (touch football, tennis, and golf) already under way.

TOUCH FOOTBALL
Twenty-one teams are entered in touch football, vying for one of the most hotly-contested crowns in intramural sports. Three divisions each consisting of seven teams, have been established. Division pairings are as follows:

Division I: ATO; KA; Kin-head Hall; PKA; SN; LXA; and SPE.
Division II: AGI; DX; Lewistites; PKT; P3K; SAE; Triangles.
Division III: ASP; DTD; KS; No. Ky. Turtles; PDT; SX; and ZET.

Each team will play every other team in its division at least once. At the conclusion of the round robin, the leading four teams from each division will be placed in the final elimination tournament to determine the University champs. Temporarily, only two games daily

Wildcats Picked For Fifth Spot In SEC Rating

Last May, Georgia Tech was picked as the No. 1 team of the Southeastern Conference in the annual poll of loop athletic directors and football coaches. Tech received 15 first-place votes and four for second.

According to the athletic directors and coaches of the SEC, here is how the teams will finish for 1948: 1. Tech; 2. Tennessee; 3. Alabama; 4. Georgia; 5. Kentucky; 6. Vanderbilt; 7. Mississippi State; 8. Mississippi will be played until additional field space is obtained at University High. All games will be played on the intramural field at the rear of Alumni Gym, until further notice. Games will begin at 4:00 and 5:00 p.m. Schedules of games are posted in Alumni gym basement.

Bill McCubbin, I-M Director, announced that officiating will be handled mainly by Physical Education majors enrolled in sports officiating classes.

John Crosthwaite has been added to the intramural staff as Assistant I-M Manager. John will assist in conducting the touch football and volleyball tournaments, and will be charged with scoring team and individual participation points. Other appointments to the staff will be announced soon.

TENNIS DELAYED

Eighty-five tennis entrants await clearing skies to demonstrate their racquet skills. Among the top contenders for net honors are some of last season's finalists: SAE's Holland; and SX's Moseley. Upsets are predicted, particularly in the doubles tourney.

GOLF

Approximately 74 potential "divot-replacers" are ready to get under way on Pleadome's fairways, to match strokes. Prognosticators are eyeing SN's John Abel; KA's Griffin; KS's Dunn; and SAE's Wright. They are listed as the ones to beat in the contest for golfing honors.

Participants are urged to get student tickets, available only to tournament players, at the Intramural Office, priced at 50 cents.
